President Schwalm

15 years of friendly leadership

On November 8, 1941, at his inauguration, Dr. Vernon Franklin Schwalm stated, "Keenly aware of the heavy responsibility it involves, and deeply appreciative of the high privilege it affords, I accept the presidency of Manchester College and pledge you my every effort, as God gives me grace, to uphold its best ideals and traditions and to promote its growth and usefulness."

The president at home

Dr. Schwalm is a graduate of the class of 1913 of Manchester. He returned to MC after receiving his master's degree at the University of Chicago, becoming two years later the dean of the college, in which capacity he served until being called to McPherson College in 1927.

On another occasion Dr. Schwalm said, "A college lives and grows that has back of it persons who have carried the interest of it in their hearts . . . They are the folks who have really made the college..." President Schwalm has given his best to developing Manchester, both in its outreach and its educational level, accounting for the excellence socially, spiritually, and scholastically of the Manchester Man. Manchester College will feel a great loss when Dr. Schwalm does not return to his office next fall, but "through the years we will remember." We dedicate this book to that end.

Informal moments

DEAN GARUER

Energetic . . . friendly . . . capable . . . winning . . . efficient . . . helpful . . . These adjectives insufficiently describe the dean of the college.

Before coming to Manchester to be head of the economics department, Dr. Garver had graduated from Manchester in 1933, taken his Ph.D. at Yale University in 1943, and had studied at Harvard and at the University of Chicago.

Dr. Garver has served as dean of the college for the past six years. He has taught in the economics department and occupied several teaching positions before coming to Manchester. His office is the center of counsel for those who are attending Manchester under the G. I. Bill. Besides performing his services as dean, he is active in church work, in education, and in economics organizations.

DEAN BOLLINGER

One of the first persons with whom freshmen become acquainted when they arrive on campus is our friendly dean of students, Dr. R. V. Bollinger, who continues to impress them as an apt counselor and an able speaker throughout their stay at Manchester.

DEAN WIEBE

Miss Wiebe, our dean of women, is well known to students because of her genuine interest in them, her effort to become acquainted with each one, and her kind smile. Counseling, committee work, administrative duties, and classroom teaching encompass her many activities.

Practical Arts

an educated man is health wise

Dr. Howard Book, Division Head

PRACTICAL ARTS

. . . In the division of Practical Arts and Letters most of the emphasis is placed upon giving students a good background for careers as teachers. For each school level, principles are presented which are of value to students training in the respective levels. In addition to training teachers, this division offers courses for physical development, which are found in the department of Physical Education, and courses for development of more efficient and responsible homemakers.

Dr. Howard Book, Mrs. Esther Mae Ashley, Mr. Fred Bishop

EDUCATION

... The majority of the graduates of Manchester College become elementary or high school teachers. This fact emphasizes the importance of a strong Education Department to prepare these graduates. Besides those who want to become teachers are those who want pre-professional training in education and those who wish to acquire a knowledge of education as a part of a liberal education. The courses in the department instruct the student in the psychology and methods of teaching.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

... A wide variety of activities is provided for both men and women by the Physical Education Department in the attempt to meet various individual needs and desires. A student may receive instruction in football, basketball, baseball, and track, as well as in tennis, bowling, tumbling, archery, volleyball, and badminton.

Mr. Bill Holford, Mr. Claude Wolfe

PSYCHOLOGY

... Courses in the Psychology Department, besides being important to one who wants to get a liberal education, are especially important to the student who is majoring in education.

Dr. R. V. Bollinger, Miss Gertrude Wiebe, Mr. A. K. Eikenberry

LIBRARY

. . . Another department very important to the education major, besides being a must for librarian trainees, is the department of Library Science, in which the student is acquainted with the variety of materials used in the school library and classroom.

Miss Ruth Coblentz, Miss Jean Holcombe

O Steel Facts

SECRETARIAL TRAINING

. . . Students interested in entering careers as secretaries will find the courses in the department of Secretarial Training very helpful. In typing and shorthand, the emphasis is upon developing speed and accuracy, and upon the practical application of these skills.

Miss Dorothy Johnson, Miss Lola Sanger

Miss Armena Kolmer, Miss Opal Stech, Miss Irma Dare

HOME ECONOMICS

. . . Courses in the Home Economics Department are concerned with enriching the individual and teaching students to live and work together as a group. Mrs. Isabel Lynn, who started teaching the winter term, was not present when the picture was taken.

Social Sciences

experience teaches us much

Mr. C. Ray Keim

Division Head

SOCIAL SCIENCE

... Headed by Dr. C. Ray Keim, the division of Social Science deals with society and its elements, including family, state, and race, and with the relations and institutions involving man's existence and well-being as a member of an organized community.

Mr. Neal Merritt

Mrs. Maxine Domer, Dr. Gladdys Muir, Dr. C. Ray Keim

WORLD CIVILIZATION

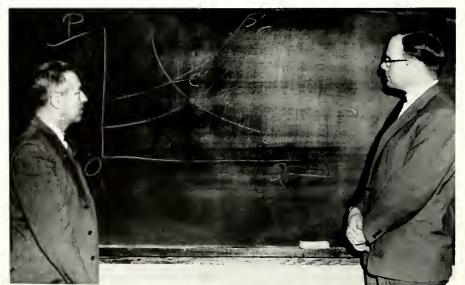

... By examining man's cultural, social, intellectual, economical, and political development, the History Department endeavors to answer the questions about the rise and fall of civilizations and the prospects for our own civilization. It studies the several theories of history, the great men of history, and our challenge in history.

SOCIOLOGY

... In the Sociology Department the student studies the nature of social relationships; gains an understanding of forms, controls, problems, and dynamics of these relationships; and obtains guidance in solving problems which arise from them. This problem solving constitutes a practical approach to sociology. The several different courses in this department, which is headed by Dr. Don Royer, cover a wide field of interesting areas of sociology.

Dr. Donald Royer

Dr. Earl S. Garver, Dr. Wayne Geisert

BUSINESS

. . . Courses in the Business Department, whose head is Dr. Earl S. Garver, are of value to anyone interested in a career in accounting general business, or teaching business in high schools.

Natural Sciences

opportunities today are greater than ever

SCIENCE

... Dealing directly with all branches of biology, geology, astronomy, chemistry, mathematics, and physics is the division of Natural Science. Each department in the division stresses the development of an appreciation of science, its cultural applications, and its possibilities as a career.

Dr. Emerson Niswander

Dr. C. S. Morris, Division Chairman

BIOLOGY

. . . What is the relationship of living things to each other and to man? How can man learn more about himself from the study of other organisms? The answers to these questions and to many others can be found in the recitation and laboratory experiences offered in this department. Collecting insects and leaves, studying trees and shrubs, learning conservation of these resources—all these are experiences of the Biology Department.

Mr. William Eberly, Dr. Phillip Orpurt

CHEMISTRY

. . . Preparing students for graduate work, teaching high school chemistry, and serving as chemists is the intention of the Chemistry Department, headed by Dr. Carl W. Holl. Students are also given training necessary for entering schools of medicine, dentistry, and engineering. Lab work constitutes a large part of the schedule.

Dr. Harry Weimer, Dr. Carl Holl

MATHEMATICS

... Acquainting the student with the cultural significance of mathematics, teaching the future scientist or engineer the useful tools of mathematics, preparing students for teaching mathematics in high schools, and establishing a sound basis for those who wish to do advance work and research in mathematics are the aims of the Mathematics Department.

Mr. John Dotterer, Dr. Ralph Shively

PHYSICS

... Physics is the branch of knowledge dealing with materials and phenomena of the world, such as mechanics, heat, light, electricity, sound, and the branches of science devoted to the study of radiations and atomic structure. Mr. Howard Uhrig teaches in the field of audio-visual education.

Dr. C. S. Morris, Mr. Howard Uhrig

appreciation is the door to expression

HUMANITIES

culture by presenting to him refined learning is the aim of the division of Humanities, whose chairman is Dr. Lloyd Hoff. The courses are presented primarily for their aesthetic, rather than for informational or utilitarian, values. They emphasize forms, movements, and masterpieces in each field, with special attention given to the classics. In each department an attempt is made to give the student the basis for evaluation which he needs in order to enjoy his surroundings and broaden his judgment.

Mr. F. E. Reed, Mr. Henry Glade

Dr. Lloyd Hoff, Division Chairman

LANGUAGE

... Helping the student gain a working knowledge of the written and spoken language, an appreciation of the literature, nature, and cultures of the countries in which the languages are spoken, and preparing students for graduate work—these are the aims of the department of Foreign Language. Grammar, conversation, and literature are emphasized.

Mr. Max Allen

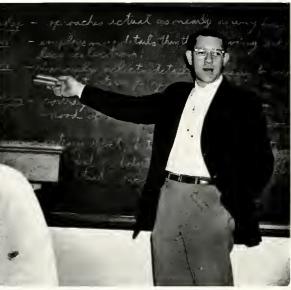

ART

... In the department of Art, courses are designed to furnish the student with a background for understanding the arts, to enlarge his appreciation for the art in his everyday life, and to help him find the beauty in functional as well as in fine art. The practical applications of art, such as art in advertising, art in teaching, and art as applied to crafts are also presented in recitation and laboratory experiences.

Dr. Paul Keller

ENGLISH

. . . Rather than concentrating on teaching reading, spelling, and grammar in themselves, the department of English makes an effort to train the student to follow directions accurately, to write interestingly, to speak clearly, and to read with understanding. Opportunity to write in the Oak Leaves is given to students who are interested and capable.

Dr. Lloyd Hoff, Mr. Fred Conkling

Dr. William Stafford, Miss Orrel Little

In the literature section of the department an endeavor is made to acquaint the student with and give him an appreciation for literature.

Dr. Clyde Holsinger, Miss Martina DeJong, Mr. David McCormick

Mrs. Genita Speicher, Mr. Paul Halladay

MUSIC

... Majors in the Music Department are given concentrated work in one of these three fields: applied music, church music, or music theory. The courses are intended to provide a background for later training, cultural instruction for the general student, and a basis for the teaching of music in elementary and high schools.

Mr. Vernon Stinebaugh

On February 2, 1956, Professor Murl Marie Barnhart, who joined the faculty of Manchester in 1926 as Professor of Piano, Harmony, and Music Theory, passed away. Her presence on the Manchester College campus will be missed by all who knew her.

Mr. T. Wayne Rieman

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

. . . Helping the student establish the basis for a good life is the purpose of the department of Religion and Philosophy. To provide this basis it attempts to help the student become acquainted with and appreciate the Old and New Testaments of the Bible, to attain a vital Christian faith, and to develop a sound philosophy of life. Besides studying the Bible, the student can read Plato's writings in philosophy or study a course in logic or ethics. The principles presented in the classes can be applied to working in the home congregation, planning private and group worship, as well as gaining a better understanding of the Church, its doctrines, and the men who made it what it is. The student who is interested especially in philosophy may study the ancient philosophers, the major theories of moral value, and the principles of right and their application to everyday problems, which are presented in a practical way in ethics.

ADMINISTRATION

... A group very important to the proper functioning of the complex organism which is Manchester College is the administration. It seeks to maintain order in the academic programs of several hundred students and at the same time reaches out into a wide area to keep in touch with important people such as alumni and prospective students.

an emphasis on personalities

Arriving as "green rhinies" who were freshly anticipating a new kind of life, the freshmen latched onto the MC spirit with a bang. During those first hectic days, they were faced with a barrage of tests, parties, and new friends. Campus pals located them, showed them around, and introduced them to more people. Finally the climax came when these new "gifts from heaven (?)" met the faculty and staff, becoming regular members of the "family." Then, after standing through lines that didn't stop, it happened—classes began!

MIMM

Breaking the three year winning streak of the class of '56, the class of '58 walked off with the bat at the annual Camp Mack Outing. Aside from sore muscles and red noses, students and faculty returned to classes unharmed to go without exercise for another year.

Muscles!

Once again breaking tradition, the MC cowgirls lassoed their cow pokes and they rode off together to a series of exciting events, including a chuck wagon breakfast, a rodeo, a football game (we won!), and a formal banquet, "Spartan Round-Up," which ended the western day.

PARTIES

Party anyone? . . . Term paper? . . . Not tonight! It's Saturday. Anyone knows that that's the time to forget it all . . . Oh, well, there's always tomorrow. Let's go!

Fun, fellowship, studies, and seriousness all go together to make up the everyday life of Manchesterites. Through the years we will remember the term papers and options along with the parties and dunkings. Everyday in every way we live our college life to the fullest and will reap its benefits in the future.

Anybody for a clean sheet?

EUERYDAY LIFE

These guys don't look like they are much in the mood for socializing.

Here's an excellent opportunity for quiet socializing.

HOMECOMING

"Go get 'em, Spartans!" thinks Eddie.

With a yawn and a paintbrush, preparation for Saturday's part in Homecoming began. The annual snake dance, climaxed by the bonfire, helped to set up the enthusiasm which encouraged the team to triumph over Hanover 21-20 in the most exciting game of the year. After the speechless speech of Eddie Consolo, co-captain of the team, the weary feet of the freshman fellows trudged to their annual painting of the streets.

Tri Alpha's production of The Devil and Daniel Webster and The Summoning of Everyman helped to open the events on Friday evening and was the fitting closing of festivities on Saturday night.

Winning the honor for the best display of the day was Click Clique with its presentation of "We Shot the Panthers." Runners up for the award were the senior class and the Young Republican Club. At the Homecoming banquet, many new friends were made and old acquaintances renewed.

DAD'S DAY

Thrilling the Dads with a 13-13 tie against Indiana Central, the Spartans provided an exciting afternoon of football which added to a very special day.

A coffee hour marked the official opening of the day, after which a business meeting was held and Reverend Raymond Peters of Dayton, Ohio, was elected to serve as the new president of the Dad's Association.

Climaxing the day, a banquet was held with Glen Longenecker, retiring president, acting as toastmaster. Gene Stebbins welcomed the Dads and Chalmer Faw, of Chicago, responded.

MOTHER'S DAY

To honor our mothers we invited them to return with us for one day to Nursery Land. Mother Goose, together with Mary Rockstroh and Carl Anderson, ushered us through memories of the past. One of the fiddlers three, alias Prof. Stinebaugh, and the Wizard of Oz, Jim Overholt, brought a happy ending to the day with a symphony concert and a play.

POST OFFICE

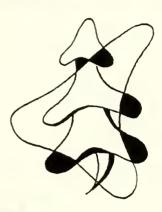

After undergoing a major operation during the summer months, the post office made a speedy recovery in time to serve the incoming hordes. The plastic surgery was done in order to facilitate our getting that buck from Dad or that letter from "Joe." Then there were those two times a term when grades came out . . .

"Dear Claire"

CHRISTMAS

"We wish you a merry Christmas and a happy New Year" was on the lips and in the hearts of MC Carolers as they went about spreading cheer before returning home for the joyous holiday season. After a "cool" evening and the program at the Peabody Memorial Home, the gang returned to school for a warm-up feast.

CHURCH

Our worship of God, whatever our faith or diversified beliefs, serves as a strong unifying force on our campus. The churches are numerous for a town of this size and almost everyone can find a place in which he feels at home.

WUS UN DAY

"To us so little, to them so much," was the theme which launched the 10th annual World University Service drive. Come along with us while we count the activities . . . Let's see, there was the car wash, the seven hundred foot penny line, the white elephant sale, bookstore auction, and a booth in the school carnival. Don Parker headed the drive as chairman of the Service Committee.

Cloyd Dye acted as moderator for the 4th annual UN Day for high schools held March 25. Featured as main speaker was Dr. Kermit Eby, Sr., Professor of Sociology at the University of Chicago. Eighteen schools sent delegates to this assembly.

WORK DAY

"All work and no play" was the order of this day. And it yielded the new look to the campus for its spring facial, along with blisters and sore muscles for the participants.

"Those that don't work don't eat." Even though we don't see them in the lunch line, we're sure that John LaRue, Ralph Naragon, and Dean Bollinger deserved a hearty meal after the work that they appear to be doing.

ST. UALENTINE'S DAY

Our freshman sweetheart, Phyllis George, was "walking on air" as she approached the throne to be crowned queen of the Valentine Banquet. Sharing in her excitement were her three attendants, Norma Vought, Joan Rust, and Joyce Mussleman. Everyone seemed to be "walking on air," for that was the theme of the banquet which was held immediately following the coronation. After the banquet, a program was given in the queen's honor in Winger Recital Hall.

MAY DAY

Reigning Queen, Joan Eby

Maid of Honor, Janie Newcomer

Reigning as queen supreme of "Duan-Wu-Tia" was Miss Joan Eby, attended by Miss Janie Newcomer, maid of honor, and representatives of the various classes.

Walking off with honors for the outstanding float in the artistry class and also the Oak Leaves Trophy was the senior class float, "Lotus Blossom." The freshman originality won them first place in that division. For best representing the theme, Oak Leaves won first in that class.

Below is pictured the queen's float, which led the parade, with the queen, her maid of honor, and the retiring queen, Marvel Mc-Clurg Goodmiller.

In the afternoon guests and students were invited to meet the queen and her attendants at a reception held in their honor in the Winger Recital Hall.

PLAYS

Lute Song, a story of an oriental and his family ties, closed another successful season for Tri Alpha, this year under the direction of Professor James Overholt. Starring in this May Day production were Eli Netzley, Doris Rupel, Adele Hoover, and Bob Durnbaugh. The scenery was specially designed by Bob Kinzey.

In place of the single play which is usually presented for Homecoming, Tri Alpha presented two productions, The Devil and Daniel Webster and The Summoning of Everyman. The first play was done in podium style while the latter was a moralistic play done with the use of abstract scenery.

PUBLIC PROGRAM SERIES

Highlighting the list of distinguished guests in the public program series this year was Miss Marian Anderson, noted American contralto. Miss Anderson made her debut at the Metropolitan a year ago last January in "The Masked Ball" by Verdi. Accompanying Miss Anderson was Franz Rupp, well known concert pianist.

Presenting his popular solo program, "The Seven Ages of Man," Arnold Moss, celebrated Shakespearean actor, was the next guest to appear in the series. A versatile actor, Mr. Moss has been featured and starred in Broadway theatres, motion pictures, radio, and television. Selections presented were from Shakespeare, James Weldon Johnson, Ring Lardner, and Robert Fontaine.

Appearing for the second consecutive year in the Manchester Public Program Series were the world famous Vienna Choir Boys. A varied program including sacred, secular, and folk songs, as well as an operetta, showed the great versatility of this young group. Though many cannot understand their language, their charm is captivating.

Completing the Public Program Series was the renowned Norman Cousins, who is ending his 16th year as editor of the Saturday Review.

CHAPEL

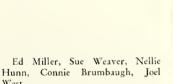

To afford opportunity for interdenominational worship and cultural development is the purpose of our chapel programs. Many outstanding speakers have been with us this year including Dr. Henry Hitt Crane, featured during Religious Emphasis week, Dr. Harry K. Zeller and Dr. Gerald O. McCulloh, who shared their thoughts with us during the Lenten season. An interesting series of programs on "What Makes Great Art . . . Literature . . . Music . . . Great" was also included this year.

WHO'S WHO

Pictured below are fifteen seniors who were selected by Manchester College to represent it in the 1956 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." These people were selected on the basis of scholarship, ability, extra-curricular activities, citizenship, and relationships with others.

After four years of study and work, the seniors were about to finish the goal which they had set out to accomplish as freshmen. As they advanced to get their diplomas, they stepped across the threshold into something new. Dreams of many parents were fulfilled as they saw their children go forth to take their place in society as teachers, doctors, lawyers, ministers, and husbands and wives. Many a tear appeared in the eyes of the alumni as they stood to sing the alma mater at this, the close of their college career.

GRADUATION

Here we see the last long walk the seniors will take together as a class. As they think of the many walks they have made along this path before, they think of the many good times they have had and the never to be forgotten friendships.

MARCH OF PROGRESS

Moving out

How about $30?

We began to see tangible evidence of the "March of Progress" drive this year in the construction of the new $298,640 girls dormitory, which will house 100 girls. Aiming at a grand total of $500,000 to $750,000, we were rapidly progressing toward our goal with approximately $340,462 raised by October of 1955.

FOOTBALL

COACH BILL HOLFORD

Completing his fifth year as head football coach at MC, Coach Bill Holford depicts excellent student-teacher relationships. He is always natural and quite at ease with a quick sense of humor, yet determined and all business in the midst of a close battle on the turf. The best from every man is all that he expects, recognizing the true worth of an individual and his potentialities.

Having played both football and baseball for four years at Otterbein College, he received his Masters degree at Indiana University. An undefeated season at West Milton, Ohio, is only an excerpt from his enviable record.

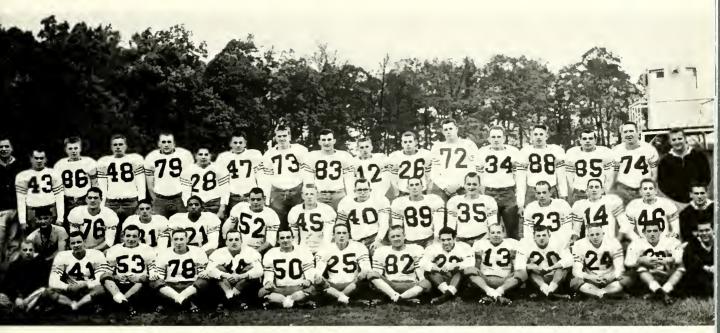

Eleven returning lettermen bolstered the 1955 roster, backed by many returning veterans and freshmen. Winning only two games, the teamwork and drive was not lacking, as was shown when the squad stopped the conference champs, Indiana Central, with a 13-13 tie. High morale and spirit shows great prospect for the coming season.

Coach Holford wins a big one.

Dividing the responsibilities of captain were Eddie Consolo, small but powerful quarter and halfback; and Tom Miller, senior tackle. Complementing his duties as co-captain, Eddie was voted the honor of most valuable player on the team.

Co-captains: Ed Consolo, Tom Miller

EARLHAM . . . Beginning with an early 7-0 lead, the Earlham Quakers skillfully shut out the Spartans until a 38 yard pass of Easton's reached the arms of Kinnison on the 3 yard line. Consolo then pushed across for the tally. However, Cope, Quaker quarterback, again slipped over and Earlham surged ahead 14-7. An interception by Hagan and a 35 yard aerial from Consolo to Phillips accounted for the only other MC score.

GRAND RAPIDS . . . Rather irritated by two earlier defeats and greatly encouraged for the first home game, the Holfordmen took to the air for large gains, with scoring runs by Consolo and Lozier supplementing the attack. After the Raiders scored only 7 during the first half, the Spartans were taken back at a rather early second half six. After blocking the try for the extra point, Kinnison found his way to the opposite goal to receive a scoring pass. A recovery by Voris made possible Consolo's final romp, leaving a clear victory of 33-13.

ALL CONFERENCE SELECTIONS

Three standout performers represented Manchester in the all-conference selections: Jim Easton, freshman from South Bend, noted particularly for his precision passing; Dominic Grasso, sophomore guard of exceptionally rugged defensive ability and consistent drive; and Eddie Consolo, an invaluable fighter.

TAYLOR . . . An early first quarter Easton pass to Consolo gave the Spartans a 6-0 lead which they strongly defended until the final period. Twice the Holfordmen were in easy scoring range, but ran out of steam on the 17 and 12 yard lines, respectively. A Trojan drive was soundly halted on Manchester's four, but with Lontz and Chernanko going across for six each, MC's second conference tilt ended at 12-6.

HANOVER . . . Before an overflow Homecoming crowd, the Spartans attempted their 3rd conference clash. Sparked by the consistent defensive play of Grasso and Niehus, two Easton aerials snuggled in for scores pulling the far-lagging score up to a handier 20-14. Another 54 yard toss and the 3rd consecutive boot by Clingman netted the final 7 which appeared very small as Hanover recovered a fumble on the 20 with two minutes to play. However, they were unable to break the spirited MC line, and the first conference victory fell to the Spartans 21-20.

ANDERSON . . . In complete contrast to the victorious Homecoming tilt seven days before, a discouraged Manchester eleven bowed in humble defeat by a score of 35-0. The Spartans entered Raven territory only twice. Receiving the kickoff MC appeared the same fighting team of one week previously. But after a couple of stray aerials and two driving scores by Anderson, the fight seemed to vanish.

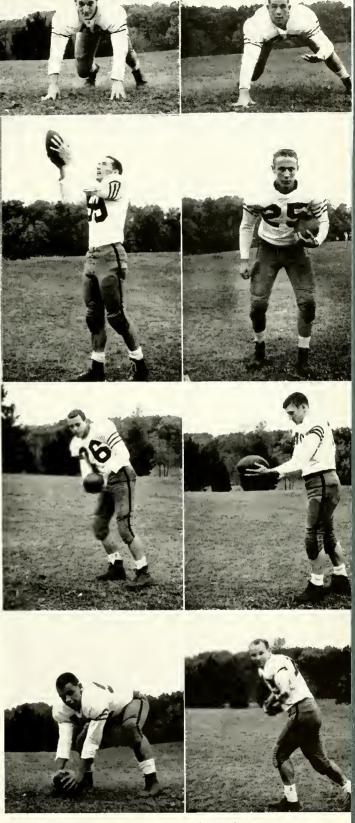

BLUFFTON . . . Smarting from their recent defeat and well knowing the size and deception of Bluffton, Manchester began hard and fast. However the speed and agility of Taylor and Dubinion proved too much as the Beavers coasted to a safe 20-7 victory. The only bright spot for the Spartans came when Easton uncorked a long one to Consolo for their single tally. Clingman made good the extra point.

INDIANA CENTRAL . . . For the final home and conference game, and sporting a full "Dads' Day" crowd, the Spartans gained a fine moral victory by tying IC 13-13. The running of Consolo and a 40 yard romp by Rondeau accounted for the first six, and a 30 yard pass from Easton to Kinnison added the second six. The last half remained scoreless for the Holfordmen, but the Greyhounds scored in the last few seconds of the third quarter, and the game remained the same until the gun.

FRANKLIN . . . In the final clash of the season, Consolo's 50 yard jaunt on an outside sweep marked the only TD for Manchester. Inevitable fumbles and numerous penalties seemed only to add to the Spartan discouragement as the pistol cracked with the scoreboard reading: Franklin, 33 — Manchester, 7.

KENTUCKY STATE . . . Facing what was probably one of the toughest squads State ever produced, Manchester bowed to a 51-0 first game defeat. Although initiating a new offense, the Spartans were never in scoring territory, unable to buck State's extremely strong line and tricky backfield. Many freshmen made their debut in this fray which experimented with the single wing, using the unbalanced line.

CROSS COUNTRY

With only thirteen candidates reporting for cross country, and from these only one returning letterman, the hopes for a successful team were very shallow. Following the first meet, however, Coach Wayne Yager reported his satisfaction with the high spirit of the team. Expecting a 2½ mile course, the hustlers of MC were not prepared for Earlham's 4 mile trudge and trailed 21-34. Valparaiso ran to a 19-42 victory the next week with Bates coming in third and Yager, Huber, Anderson and Zook in close pursuit.

Traveling to Taylor October 8th, Manchester obtained a 22-36 win with Bates leading the 2 mile course in 11:04 and Norris capping 3rd spot. Again at Anderson, Bates and Norris pushed the opponents hard, but came off second best at 17:36. The U. of Illinois claimed a decision also that week, conceding 1st, 5th, and 9th places to Bates, Norris, and Huber.

Climaxing the season was the conference meet at Earlham which found Bates capping 8th, Norris 18th, and Huber 19th. For his steady pace and rugged endurance, Bates was selected as a candidate in the state meet.

MANAGERS

Norman Mikesell, Don Heitzman, John Hemphill, Dean Burket, Dale Miller

Innumerable ankles to tape . . . sore, aching muscles . . . tired, discouraged bodies . . . sweaty stacks of uniforms . . . these are the tasks which face any student manager. Highly underrated and unappreciated are these inconspicuous workers, the backbone of any well-functioning team.

Filling the duties during the pigskin season were Don Heitzman and Norm Mikesell. Dale Miller greatly aided Coach Wolfe in the basketball season with John Hemphill and Duke Lee handling equally well the track and baseball obligations, respectively.

"That feels all right, Mike"

BASKETBALL

COACH CLAUDE WOLFE

Actions seem to speak louder than words in the life of Coach Claude Wolfe, now climaxing his fifth year at his alma mater. A very busy man, Claude is head of the department of physical education, assistant football coach, and baseball coach. Similar duties in basketball offer him a busy "sideline."

Placing major importance upon development of fundamentals and personal skills, Coach Wolfe instills nothing but the best in those he meets, whether in personal life, teaching, or coaching. His record is an impressive one, heightened by the HCC conference victory in the 1953-54 season.

He received his B.D. from Bethany Biblical Seminary in 1945 and served five years in Quito Missions, after which he returned to earn his Masters degree at Indiana University.

"Get that tip!"

Practice . . .

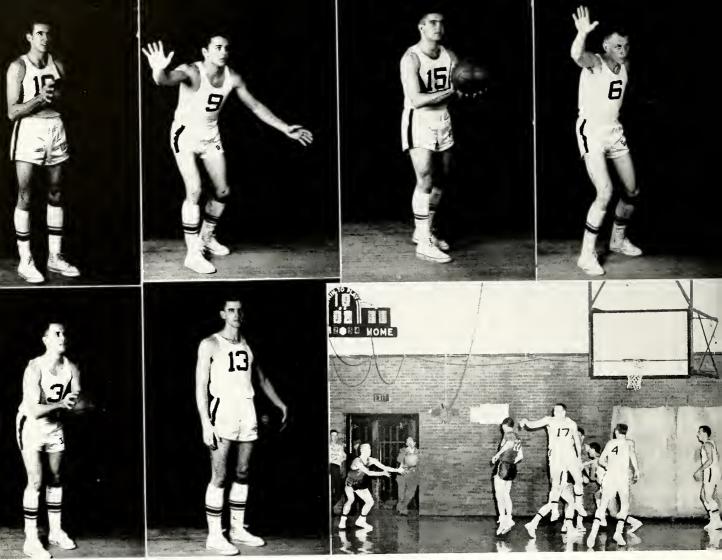

Clearing the red tape from the HCC conference standings, Manchester found itself in a three-way tie for first with Anderson and Indiana Central, sporting a 9 won-3 lost record. Faring equally well in extraconference play our hoopsters claimed an overall record of 16 wins and 10 losses.

Scattered victories seemed to dominate the greater part of the schedule, earlier defeats by Earlham, Taylor, Anderson, and Central being avenged when the aggressive Spartans pounded out a nine game victory row, losing the final sparring to De Paul and Indiana Tech.

MC demonstrated a versatile scoring punch with particularly effective rebounding and precision fast breaking. Defense appeared the rather weak spot, being strengthened as the year continued.

Seniors Dick Piper, leading rebounder for the team, and Donnie Butts, capping scoring honors with 508 points, both surpassed "Jake" Hoffman's 4-year record of 1064 points by reaching 1119 and 1314 respectively, the latter standing as an all time record. Tom Miller led in free throws with a percentage of .813 and was also named captain. Scoring was evenly divided but Ron Stork claimed the highest field average with .579.

Manchester, through its fine team play and especially the determined surge in the latter part of the season, won the honor of being elected to enter the NAIA playoffs at Indianapolis. Joining Manchester were Indiana Central, Anderson, and Evansville. Manchester defeated Anderson 99-89 and IC downed Evansville in first round action. In the final game, Bailey Robertson's 42 points were too much for the Spartans and IC earned the right to compete in the tournament at Kansas City by beating the Wolfemen 96-83.

B-TEAM

The 'B' team, under the guidance of Coach Ray Stull, ended a fine season with the upper hand in an 11-5 record. Facing many excellent independent and college 'B' teams of the area, the boys found ample resistance to warrant much good floor experience.

Bloom carried top scoring honors with a 13 point average followed closely by Ingram with an 11 per game. A free throw average of .603 and a game average of 70.7 gave the "B's" a seven point average lead over every opponent.

CHEERLEADERS

"All right gang. The Manchester locomotive! Now let's hear it!" How familiar was this cry in the cold frizzle of a fall rain or the stifling heat of a crowded gymnasium as the cheering quintet rallied vigorous support for the battling team. Either ahead or behind, the enthusiasm and drive of the "voluminous five" presented much for the spectators to match, which they usually did with rigorous spirit.

Millie Teeter and Gloria Fasick, each with a year's cheering experience, excellently sparked the group. They were supplemented well by the determination of sophomore classmate Norma Standerford and the enthusiasm of freshmen Carol Rittenhouse and Pete Hartman.

Pounding out 15 hits for 17 runs against Indiana Tech, Manchester spurted to a fine start in her first baseball game of the season.

Continuing throughout in a somewhat similar manner, they climaxed the schedule by splitting a double header with Earlham, again pushing the conference champs for the second year in a row.

Pitchers: Larry Collins, Dick Jordan, Eldon Miller.

Coach Claude Wolfe

Heading the pitching staff were Larry Collins, Eldon Miller, and Clark Lee with records of 5-1, 3-1, and 2-1, respectively. Continuing the fine pace were first baseman Goodmiller (.418), right fielder Gene Likens (.363), catcher Tom Miller (.304), and Eldon Miller (.368). The Spartans lost Goodmiller, Brumbaugh, Burrows, and Dawson through graduation leaving a strong nucleus for next year's team.

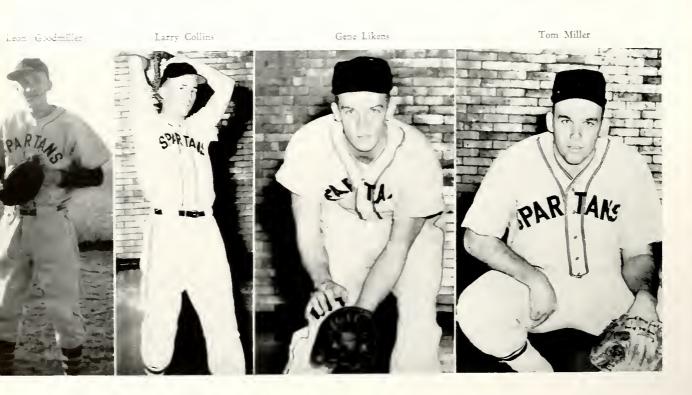

"Goodmiller digs in"

Ranking second only to Earlham and Taylor (co-champs) in the conference and claiming 4 all-conference players in Collins, Goodmiller, Likens, and T. Miller, the spirited MC team reluctantly adjourned hoping for bigger achievements in the coming year.

TRACK

The Spirtan Thinlies wound up in fourth place in conference competition during the 1955 season. This is the highest position ever garnered by MC trackmen since track was introduced five years ago.

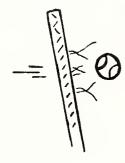

Leading the Spartans in scoring were Chuck Birmingham and Gladden Schrock who consistently jumped six feet in the high jump and 20 plus feet in the broad jump. Eldon Baker also turned in some fine jumps of around 11 feet in the pole vault.

Birmingham won Manchester's only first place in the conference meet with a leap of 6' 7." in the high jump to set a new conference record.

Tony Newell, the only graduating senior, scored points regularly in the shot put, discus, and javelin events.

TENNIS

Without much publicity, tennis continued its rather recent appearance at Manchester. During the course of the fall season nine fellows participated, practicing dutifully on the hard clay courts. Bill Sayers, coaching the racket rackers, had ony two returning lettermen. However, new faces expertly filled the many gaps and an even break of 3-3 gave promise of an excellent '56 season.

Playing well, the Spartan netters halted a Taylor campaign 5-2 after being subdued 7-0 by Earlham in the opener. Providing a suitable background for the thrill-packed Homecoming game, MC stretched the endurance of a determined Hanover squad in an exciting 4-3 tilt. Indiana Central added another defeat of 4-3 to the Spartans, but a trip to Anderson proved MC superior by a 4-3 victory. Franklin likewise fell prey to the netmen 4-1. Losing no doubles matches Joe and Bill Ditto added much to the team's success.

WOMEN'S RECREATION

Directing the women's physical education department this year has been Miss Betty van der Smissen, assisted by Mrs. Senseman. In the past few years the number of women physical education majors has been small, but this year the number has increased favorably as has the number of physical education minors. Emphasis in our part of the department is found in perpetuating better health habits and in accenting the enjoyment and participation in recreational activities.

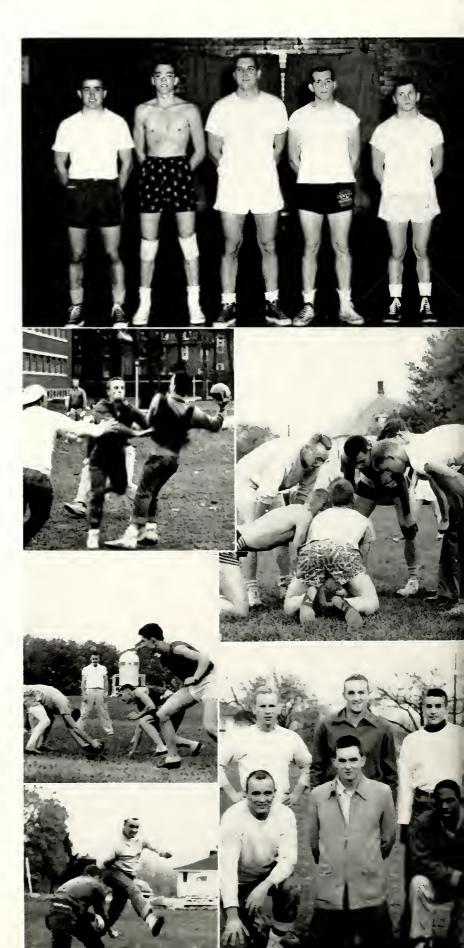

INTRAMURAL ATHLETICS

1955 Basketball Champs: John Lozier, Jon Cullum, Bob Homan, Dick Jordan, Dale Alt.

The intramural football program was divided into two leagues, American and National. Competition was keen and the action brisk as some of the games were played in quite cold weather. The Mudhens compiled the best record and won the playoffs to become intramural football champs for 1955, losing only one game during the entire season.

The intramural volleyball championship was won by the Pedads. They compiled the only perfect record during the season.

The 1956 intramural basketball teams were divided into two leagues, the American and National. McGrew's Tigers and the Hot Shots tied for the American League title with six wins and two losses apiece. In the National League it was Loz's Hot Shots winning with an undefeated season. They won eight and lost none. The season was climaxed with a single elimination tourney and an All-Star game.

COMMUNITY COUNCIL

President, John Blocher

Composed of students from each class, faculty, and staff members, the Community Government endeavors to promote the interests and ideals of Manchester College. The Community Government possesses far more responsibility than did the former student government. Because students, faculty, and staff now work together in a representative body, much has been done to integrate the campus community.

Community Government has been busy this year solving problems that occur in campus life. Coordinating activities of clubs, supporting campus organizations, sponsoring social activities such as the Camp Mack Outing and Work Day, supervising elections and publications, assisting in the solving of financial problems—these are a few of the routine duties of the Community Government.

This year CC worked hard at finishing the student lounge in the Oaks. They discussed problems relating to the dining hall and cafeteria, car regulations, and many others.

"Well, the way I see it"

The Executive Committee, composed of the officers of CC and one additional member from the Council, works as a planning board for the Community Government. This committee makes recommendations to the Council, handles small business items, and prepares the agenda for the regular Wednesday morning meetings of the Council.

As president of the CC, John Blocher also served as head of the executive committee. Analytical and sincere in judgement, he was a capable leader. Other officers included Mr. Paul Keller, vice president; Dick Harshbarger, treasurer; and Joan Eby, secretary.

DORM GOVERNMENT

Whether it be a popcorn-andapple dorm feed or preparation for Homecoming or the Christmas parties, the Blokewood Hall Dorm Government is always implicated. This year's ruling body was headed by senior Dave Fouts.

Each residence for girls and each hall of Oakwood has a representative on the Oakwood Dorm Government. The Dorm Government has sponsored service projects at Christmas time, lectures, Bridal Revue and open house with the rest of the campus. This past year's government was headed by Carol Petry.

Maintaining a workable system of democratic self-government is the chief aim of the Dorm Government of Calvin Ulrey Hall. At the Christmas party each member of CU brought a toy for some child. They also had a spring party for its members.

AL KIMIA

In searching for a name for the chemistry club when it was organized, it was decided that the Greek name for the early chemists, "al kimia," would be appropriate. It endeavors to promote interest among students in the science of chemistry and related fields.

An occasional outside speaker, movies, and demonstrations comprised activities of the regular meetings. Dr. Harry Weimer served as faculty advisor.

During spring term this group of future chemists cooperated in bringing General Electric's "House of Magic" show to campus and in April participated in the campus Science Fair.

1956 AURORA

Business Manager, Bill Arnold: Copy Editor, Joan Eby

Editor Gene Likens

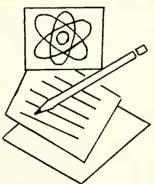

Co-events Editors, Joyce Wheeler, Garnett Hyde

"Will we ever meet that deadline?" Who but the weary staff members would ever understand the chaotic confusion that engulfed the little Aurora office as those inside its four walls struggled desperately to meet that deadline? The photograph trimmings covering the floor, the heaps of rejected copy, and the absence of sleep—these were not noticed. Only one thing seemed certain—"We must meet that deadline!"

OAK LEAUES

Barbara Meyers, Mary Bitting, Stuart Sisulak, Sharron Johnson, Marilyn Studebaker, Phil Meyers

Now in its forty-second year, Oak Leaves, the official news publication of the college, has grown from a small four column edition to its present size with six columns and seven extra inches in length. Now serving over 1200 subscribers, Oak Leaves maintained its reputation of serving the Manchester community, surrounding area, and alumni efficiently.

Under the leadership of Jerry Durnbaugh, the paper tried many new journalistic ideas. Ranking high among these was the fabulous scented, two tone Christmas issue!

If you are approached by someone asking you, "Who? What? When? Where? How? Why?" you may be reasonably certain that he is on the Bark staff. Designed to give freshmen practical experience in elementary journalism, the Bark has been for many years an institution peculiar to MC's campus. These choice epics of fact and fancy are always relished by the campus community.

ACORN

Again the Acorn staff has succeeded nobly in its purpose of compiling an anthology of the most exceptional literary products of the freshmen courses in English composition, communications 105 and 106. Under the supervision of Professor Conkling, the Acorn is in its twenty-eighth year on our campus.

BUSINESS CLUB

The click of typewriters and adding machines monopolizes our sphere. This is the Business Club of MC's campus. Undetermined assets, few liabilities, and great interest in the functions of the Business Club in this, one of its most active years.

To promote more interest in the business world and in the study of commercial subjects is the objective of the club. Field trips were taken and were instrumental in teaching important practical aspects and applications of knowledge gained in the classroom.

MIKE CLUB

Affording ample opportunity to gain experience in the occupation of radio broadcasting, this club also strives to provide entertainment and useful information for the entire college community.

Among the principal objectives of Mike Club are to stimulate general interest in the field of radio broadcasting, to improve the speech habits of its members as established by radio standards, to practice and obtain skill in radio broadcasting production, and to form the student policy-making body of radio station WMIB. Any student with an active interest in radio speaking and broadcasting may apply for membership in Mike Club.

The members of Mike Club also serve as managers, engineers, script writers, announcers and disc jockeys for MC's affiliate of the Intercollegiate Broadcasting system.

WMIB

Variety in entertainment and in programs is the aim of WMIB. Broadcasting ball games, interviews with campus personalities and famous visitors, and presentations of classic and popular music are made possible by our campus radio station.

Turning your radio dial to 630 kilocycles will bring you the voices of your own classmates who spend a great deal of their time in the station on the second floor of the library. Up there, they either take part in the broadcasting or are operating the transmitter.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

"How can we become acquainted with the teaching profession?... what are some of the problems teachers face?" Through panel discussions, talks by critic teachers and student teachers, movies, and other activities the members of FTA find the answers to questions like these.

Enthusiasm of club members is reflected in the many activities it sponsors. Sponsoring an all-school ice cream social, the annual FTA High School Day, collecting toys for distribution to needy children at Christmas, and attending state FTA workshops . . . these are a few of their many activities.

Directing the organization in its many activities during the first half of the year were Joenita Funderburg, Kay Kistler, Joyce Ferry, Sandra Baer and Dale Studebaker. Taking over in the second half of the year were Max Hoffman, Lois Cosner, and Carolyn Cripe. Dr. Nettie Leasure was the chapter sponsor.

TRI ALPHA

Known as the "Amateur Actors' Club," Tri Alpha is under the auspices of the speech department and has as its objectives to develop interest in drama and to develop dramatic talent, to afford practical experience in the field of dramatic arts, and to produce various plays for club meetings and other groups.

Work, late hours, coffee, food, fun, and play characterize Tri Alpha. Interdependent phases of drama enter into making a play successful, of which costuming, painting scenery, constructing sets, directing, and acting are but a few.

Heading last year's cabinet was Carol Lee Orr, with Gene Stocksdale, Nellie Hunn and Bob Durnbaugh assisting her.

UARSITY "M" CLUB

In only its second year on campus, the Varsity "M" Club was headed by Wayne Yager. It is open to any athlete who has earned an eight inch letter through actual participation in a varsity sport. Club purposes are: to uphold the principles set forth in the Spartan code, to assist in the care of athletic facilities, to support all sanctioned college activities by officiating, etc., to endeavor to give every student an opportunity to participate in the athletic program, and to encourage a strong spirit in all school activities.

During the Christmas season they had a program for all members of the club and their guests. Each member of the club had a part in the entertainment program. The club also was responsible for selling programs at the football and basketball games.

Other officers included: Jack Jarrett, vice president; Charlie Shoop, secretary; and Dick Jordan, treasurer.

WOMEN'S RECREATION ASSOCIATION

"Sportsmanship comes from playing the game fairly."

Anyone who has ever hit a softball or steered a volleyball over the net knows that participation in sports provides fun and friendship for all the players.

Women's Recreation Association has done much to promote sportsmanship and to further athletic interest among women. Parties to celebrate Christmas and Valentine's Day in addition to ping-pong, softball, basketball, and volleyball are some of the activities in which each girl has had a chance to participate.

The college women were given a chance to sharpen their leadership ability at the College Play Day given for high school girls from surrounding towns. An All-Star Game stimulated the better playing ability of the girls. A Spring Awards Banquet was the climax for the year's activities for this organization of women ball players and acrobats. They were led this year by Clyda Rohrer, president, and Miss van der Smissen, advisor

CHI PSI

To promote an interest in mathematics is the primary objective of Chi Psi. Members especially like to demonstrate that mathematics is not only useful but also very entertaining. In an informal atmosphere, the group experiments with complex theorems and exercises. Talks and reports are given by faculty and students. Then there are those spirited ciphering matches which well show the fun and fellowship that is valued so highly by Chi Psi members.

Highlighting the social activities of the club was the traditional ice cream social in Professor Dotterer's home.

Official tabulators for the club this year were Byron Hawbecker, president; Jack Nelson, vice-president; Rose Krall, secretary; and Byron Swayer, treasurer.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

Existing to promote international understanding and improve international relations is the International Relations Club. Through a program of action, the local club seeks to achieve these goals.

A special program in observance of the founding of the United Nations was sponsored by the I.R.C. in October. International folk games were played in costume, and desserts from five countries were served to guests.

At Homecoming, I.R.C. members sold United Nations Christmas Cards. The proceeds from the sale of these cards went to the U. N. Children's Fund.

Executive duties of the club were performed by Hans Sebald, president; Kermit Eby, vice-president; Gloria Anderson, secretary; and John Norris, treasurer. Dr. Don Royer was faculty advisor for the group.

OCTO ROLO

Octo Roloites have the privilege of doing something on campus that no one else can do. Their four wheels allow them to waltz, fox trot, and square dance. Acrobatics and playing hockey on skates make up the rest of their unusual activities.

Members of Octo Rolo worked together willingly in order to create a greater interest in skating on an all-campus level, to furnish instruction for beginners, and to master new and advanced skate steps. All of this is illustrative of the brave souls who dare the elements of gravity and friction and who, despite the shortage of skates fitted for the most frequently used parts of the anatomy, attempt to go forward, backward, sideways, end over end, around in circles, and any other way that is humanly possible—on wheels—and still hope to end up with the state of mind and body they had before.

Various activities of the year included the regular business and practice sessions, the planning and production of the annual Octo Rolo Revue, all school parties, and two grand evenings at the rink in Columbia City.

COLHECON

Convinced that the way to a man's heart is through his stomach, the Colhecon coeds demonstrate their ability in the culinary arts at such occasions as the Coffee Hour at Homecoming and the annual Date Banquet in February.

At the regular meetings, the girls discuss and demonstrate such things as table centerpieces, flower arrangements, cake decorating, and hair styling. Through activities such as these, the members seek to attain the goal of their club—a knowledge of and an appreciation for the domestic arts.

Home economists assuming the roles of "main chefs" for the group during the first half of the year were Joyce Wheeler, Wilma Miller, Jean Brand, Diane Fike, Janet Hershberger, and Barbara Carlile. Those for the latter half of the year were Gail Ark, Theda Dawes, Margaret Stitzel, Arlene Wolf, Janet Hershberger, and Carolyn Durkes. Miss Dare and Miss Stech advised and guided the girls well through the year.

Amateur cameramen, hopeful of becoming less amateur and better cameramen, carried on their hobby of photography by mutually probing modern devices and techniques. Particular programs this year dealt with slides, enlargements, and color photography.

A Click Clique member and his camera have a reputation for being at the right place at the right time. Be it a sports action shot, an attempt to catch a fellow student in an "off" moment, or a Kenapocomoco landscape to capture the beauties of the Hoosier springtime, the Click Clique member gets his picture.

Members of the club have worked hard to improve on their own techniques and have held shooting sessions, camera sharing get-togethers, and numerous instructional periods in the art of developing pictures and working in the dark room.

An honorary society whose objectives are "to develop the student in critical thinking, communicative ability and personality, and to serve the college community" is Tau Kappa Alpha.

Organization entrance requirements are two years of outstanding speech experience and a high scholastic record.

Gifford Ammermann, Bob Bowman, Dale Roher, Mr. Overholt, Dave Fouts, Dick Harshbarger, Carol Lee Orr, Nellie Hunn.

Entrance is gained in this honorary through a week's informal initiation during which all would-be neophytes of the cast perform various menial tasks for their "superiors." A twenty-four hour impersonation of some famous character is the final test. Formal initiation takes place at the joint Tri-Alpha-Alpha Psi Omega banquet held every spring.

Membership in the Iota Psi Cast of Alpha Psi Omega, a national honorary dramatics fraternity, is the reward for those who have attained a high standard of work in dramatics on the campus.

DEBATE

Under the coaching of Mr. Paul Keller, collegians debated and discussed national topics at eight universities in five states.

Quick thinking, hard work, and the will to win are the characteristics evidenced by this group.

Mary Alice Gilchrist and Ted Whitacre won the Indiana State Oratorical Contest and represented the state at the National Oratorical Contest this year.

KAPPA MU EPSILON

This national mathematical organization is working to promote the interests of mathematics. It provides for the recognition of mathematical achievement and demonstrates the importance of mathematics.

Students who join this club must meet certain requirements, including enrollment in at least the second year of math and maintenance of a high scholastic standing. With these qualifications approved, the student seeking membership must write a 1000 word mathematics paper, which later may be presented at one of the regular meetings.

Initiating five members was the highlight of the annual banquet which was held in January. Mr. Charles Morris, head of the department of physics, was the speaker of the evening at this event. Initiates were Rex Barker, Virgil Huber, Earl Marquis, Wendell Meyer, and John Mitchell.

Executive committee members who served during the year were Ruby Boehmer, president; Byron Hawbecker, vice-president; Bonnie Marschand, secretary; and Shirley Shank, treasurer. Professor Dotterer was faculty advisor.

mu pi sigma

Unique! Yes, that's the key word to the activities of Manchester's physics club. Not only do the members of this organization see sound and hear light . . . theirs is the only club on campus with two vice presidents. When president John Mitchell left to join the service, Eldon Baker (then vice president) became president. The vote for vice president was a tie, so John LaRue and John McCaully were both privileged to serve as vice-presidents. Virgil Huber was secretary-treasurer.

The physics club cooperated with the Fort Wayne Laboratory of General Electric in bringing the "House of Wonders" (a science show on chemicals, light, and the atom) to campus. They also took a field trip to the Farnsworth Manufacturing Company at Fort Wayne. At the regular meetings, demonstrations and experiments are performed by the members.

Members of Sigma Pi Sigma, national honorary physics society, met with the regular physics club this year.

Asssisting the club in its many activities was Mr. Morris, faculty advisor.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS

With the emblem of the elephant displayed proudly on its lapel, the Young Republican Club on campus has done much to promote an interest in affairs of a political nature. The club brought Alvin Cast, the Republican state chairman, to campus for a round of discussions. A Lincoln's Day program was sponsored by the Young Republicans and members of the club participated in state rallies and conventions.

Spearheading the planning for the year were president Mark Murphy, vice-president Ronald McAdams, secretary Alberta Denlinger, and treasurer Arlene Saggars. Mr. Keim served the club as faculty advisor.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Proud of its status as the youngest club on campus, the Young Democrats have worked hard this year to organize their club. Writing by-laws for their constitution and discussing fund raising activities were important items on the agenda of meetings.

Members of the club will tell you that it takes time and effort to organize a new club on campus, but they agree that they will be rewarded if their efforts result in an increased interest in political problems on the part of students.

Guiding the club through its first year of activities was Tom Fitzgerald as president. Mr. Merritt was faculty advisor.

LIBRARY STAFF

"Books are the best things, well used."

Whether you want last week's copy of Life magazine or help in finding the middle name of the 33rd president, the staff aims to please. It's the organization's duty to help you get the best use from MC's library. Miss Coblentz and Miss Holcombe are called on quite often to help in serving you. The staff members are guardians of some 45,000 catalogued library books.

UARSITY BAND

In addition to increasing the enjoyment of football games with as marchine and playing, the Varsity Band divided into pep bands the add a torock of other and spice to the home basketball games during the basketball season.

Under the direction of Professor David C. McCormick, the band presented its annual winter concert in January. The concert was unique in that no work was performed which was a transcription from the probestral literature. In addition to this concert, one easyerly anticipated each spring is the outdoor Twilight Concert.

Other activities during the year included the annual High School Band Day. Sixteen high school bands appeared for this event. At intervals throughout the year, the band also presented chapel programs, and in March the musicians embarked on a three day tour of high schools in the surrounding area.

Handling the official duties of this active organization were Paul Miller, president: Gloria Sampelson, vice-president: Janet Bailey, secretary-treasurer: and Keith Hewitt, property manager.

Giving music majors the opportunity to master skills and techniques on the secondary instruments and preparing students for entrance into the varsity band are the primary purposes of the workshop band. Its goal is not public performance, although traditionally its members perform with the varsity band at the Twillight Concert each spring.

Under the direction of Professor David McCormack, the members of the workshop band learn the fundamentals of the various band instruments. In the informal atmosphere of this group, students cain an insight into the interpretation of band music.

Serving as officers during the past year were Dave Chest John Stites, and Marge Coffman.

CIVIC SYMPHONY

North Manchester can proudly say that it is one of the smallest communities in the United States with so large a Civic Symphony. Membership in this organization includes college students, professors, staff members, and musicians from the area around North Manchester.

In addition to promoting an interest in good music, the group with Professor Vernon Stinebaugh as conductor, has maintained its worthwhile aim of presenting good music to the community. The Civic Symphony, which is truly a community project, promotes a spirit of friendliness between the college and the community.

To open the 17th season, Robert Cocherille, star of light opera from Fort Wayne, was featured baritone soloist in the November concert. All concerts were broadcast by radio station WOWO of Fort Wayne.

The annual Youth Concert was presented in February, featuring the Anderson High School Madrigal Singers. Closing another successful season, the Civic Symphony combined with the Choral Society in presenting Brahms' "Requiem."

Officers for the year were Don Godlevski, Rosemary Manifold, and Anita Bollinger.

STRING SYMPHONY

Organized in 1946 by its present conductor, Professor Vernon H. Stine-baugh, the String Symphony plays both classical and modern music.

In December the String Symphony presented its annual winter concert. For the 10th annual String Festival, Mishel Piastro, world famous conductor of the Longines Symphonette, appeared as guest conductor and violin soloist. Featured with Mr. Piastro was Sue Weaver, concert mistress of the symphony, playing the Bach Double Concerto in D minor for two violins and orchestra. Over 130 string musicians from the high schools of northern Indiana participated in this occasion which is held each year in conjunction with the Mother's Day celebration.

Officers of the String Symphony were Sue Weaver, Larry McCormic, and Gayle Hineline.

A CAPPELLA

Organized in 1946 by Dr. Clyde Holsinger, the Manchester College A Cappella Choir has been recognized as one of the finer choral organizations in the midwest. This group of sixty select voices rehearses three hours each week. They strive to develop the proper techniques of choral singing and mutual interpretation while singing the great music, both traditional and modern.

Featured in many concerts, the A Cappella Choir provides a vital connecting link between Manchester College, its friends, and alumni. Appearing before a national church conference at Grand Rapids last summer, singing at the National Plowing Contest near Urbana, and giving a concert at the annual banquet of the Indiana Music Education Association helped get the years activities off to a good start. A week-end of rehearsals and fellowship at Camp Mack in September also oriented members to "choir life."

"At rehearsal"

A spring banquet in May gave members a chance to relax as they reminisced over the many enjoyable experiences they had shared together.

Officers this year were Don Parker, president; Joel Haney, vice-president; Elizabeth Isbell, secretary; and Phyllis Thompson, treasurer.

"Director Clyde Holsinger"

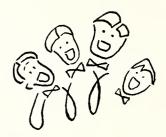

Rated top interest by the choir members is the tour taken during Holy Week. At this time the choir presents programs for churches and high schools in the midwest.

On campus the A Cappella combined with Choral Union to present the Christmas Music Festival and the annual Winter Concert. In April the group, as an important part of the Choral Society, presented Brahms' "Requiem."

UOCAL QUARTETS

With repertoires consisting of both sacred and secular numbers, the women's quartet and the women's trio are in constant demand by many groups, both on and off campus. They appear on programs before high schools, churches, civic clubs, and alumni banquets.

The members of these groups are chosen by audition. Scheduling appearances for the quartets and supervising their practice is Dr. Holsinger.

CHORAL UNION

Formed by the former men's and women's glee clubs, the Choral Union has become a popular group of some ninety voices. Under the direction of Dr. Clyde Holsinger, this organization studies and enjoys a great variety of sacred and secular music arranged for mixed voices.

In conjunction with the A Cappella Choir, the Choral Union participated in the Christmas Music Festival. Later, in February, they again joined with the choir to present the winter concert.

As a highlight to the year's activities, members of Choral Union lent their voices in the production of Brahms' "Requiem."

Those assuming the official duties for the club were: Willard Dulabaum, president; Paul Nye, vice-president; and Carolyn Schuler, secretary-treasurer.

STRING QUARTETS

Having a wide repertoire of classical, semi-classical, and popular numbers, the string quartets provide entertainment for many off campus groups and give quartet members experience in public performance.

This year the quartets played for various civic programs in the community, church programs, high school assemblies and commencements, and various functions on campus.

Auditioning string musicians for quartet personnel as well as supervising practices and scheduling performances was Professor Vernon H. Stinebaugh,

Janet Arnold, Sue Weaver, Carol Stout, Don Godlevski

MANCHESTER CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION

"We unite in the desire to realize full and creative life through a growing knowledge of God. . . ." This we recognize as part of our Manchester Christian Association pledge.

Serving as an arm of the Community Government, MCA has as its specific duties to formulate a statement of the purposes of the college religious program, to provide adequate opportunities for student religious expression, to develop religious leadership, to acquaint students with religious literature, and to supervise student deputations. It also acts as a coordinating link between all religious activities on campus.

To all collegians contributing time, talents, and resources to religious activities, membership is open. The MCA cabinet is chosen by the college community, and it in turn appoints a member to serve on each of the various other MCA cabinets and committees. Joel West served as president this year with the able assistance of twelve cabinet members including both students and faculty.

MISSIONS FELLOWSHIP

For those students interested in missions and in missionary service both at home and abroad, Missions Fellowship probably claims much of their time and energy at Manchester. This common concern brings them together for worship, Bible study, recreation, and fellowship twice a month. The organization sponsors a varied program consisting of retreats, deputation teams, outside speakers and numerous service projects around the college community throughout the year.

Serving the club as officers this year were Don Stocksdale, Shirley Ford, Carolyn Zunkel, Jacqueline Clair and Professor Eberly as faculty advisor.

Back row: Mr. Eberly, Carolyn Zunkle, Glen Petry.

Third row: Dallas Fox, Martha Miller, Clara Schmid, Jackie Clair.

Sccond row: Shirley Ford, Don Stocksdale, Bob Martin, Dwayne Yost.

MINISTRY FELLOWSHIP

Bible study . . . special speakers . . . panels . . . group discussions . . . Christian sharing . . . these things all find their places in the meetings of Ministry Fellowship.

Specifically seeking to meet the needs of future church workers, this organization attempts to provide its members with opportunities and methods for the development of spiritual life, knowledge and instruction in the ministry and other church vocations, and the ever needed motivation and encouragement.

Activities and services of the members included serving as ushers for religious meetings on campus, planning worship programs, serving on deputation teams, and assisting in the Community Service census. Under the leadership of president Marion Petry and faculty advisor Dr. Lynn, the cabinet capably directed the work of the year.

Buck row: Tom Connelly, Ronald Hill, Dale Rummel, Roy Swihart, Don Ruhl, Jim Rose.

METHODIST STUDENT MOVEMENT

Regular Sunday morning and evening programs are an integral part of the Methodist Student Movement on campus. This organization promotes activities for all the Methodist students on campus and offers a wide range of programs at the local church. Some of the highlights were worship, panels, plays, discussions, and recreational meetings.

Officers leading this group through another successful season were: Phil Myers, Gloria Samuelson, Maude Klingaman, Carolyn King, Earl Kelham and Alva Townsend. Faculty advisor was Rev. Orrin Manifold.

CBYF

Dave McConnell, Joyce Rust, Bob Bowen, Jean Noffsinger, Eldon Oswalt, Janet Hershberger, Nancy Cottingham, Barry Deardorff, Dwayne Yost, Mrs. Morris, Mr. Morris.

Providing an opportunity for Church of the Brethren students as well as other interested persons on campus to worship and fellowship together is the Church of the Brethren Youth Fellowship. Among numerous special events of the regular Sunday evening meetings were outdoor singspirations, campfires, hikes, special speakers, and panel discussions. Various service projects were also an important part of the program. The cabinet worked cooperatively with president Barry Deardorff and advisors Mr. and Mrs. Morris.

CHURCH SCHOOL

Herb Domer, Andy Borla, Arlene Wolf, Marge Thompson, Harold Showalter, Wilma Million, Betty Royer, Miss Wiebe.

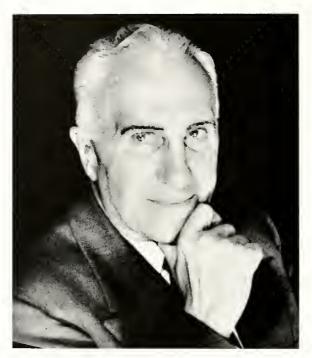

Each Sunday morning at 9 o'clock the chimes sound out over the campus calling students to College Church School in the Winger Recital Hall. Providing morning worship and Bible study, this organization is for everyone on campus regardless of denomination. Harold Showalter served ably as superintendent this year.

BSCM

Thanksgiving vacation for sixty Manchester students meant a trip to Bridgewater, Virginia, for the annual conference of the Brethren Student Christian Movement. With representatives from the six Brethren colleges and the theme "Love in Our Modern World," the four day meeting stood for fun, fellowship, discussions, and new insights on boygirl relations.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION

Dr. Henry Hitt Crane drew record breaking crowds for the annual Religious Emphasis Week programs. A well known lecturer and pastor of the Detroit Central Methodist Church, Dr. Crane led the campus community in a special emphasis on religion and spiritual life including six major addresses, meetings with special groups, bull sessions, dorm meetings and talk-it-over discussions. He also met with various student groups for dinner and luncheon chats during this week in which "Mr. Manchester, Meet the Master" was the theme stressed.

CELLS

Providing opportunity for individuals to share personal ideas and experiences are the numerous cell groups on campus. These small groups, ranging in size from six to twenty members, worship and fellowship together at many different levels.

Dwight Beery, Carol Werking, Adele Gingrich, Morris Firebaugh.

DEPUTATIONS

Deputations are an important phase of college life for many students. By sending out "teams," the college promotes better relations with churches of the area as well as providing opportunity to utilize the talents and desire for service of some students.

Wilma Nolt, Willard Dulabaum, John Stites, Romelle Swigart, Pauline Miller.

WORSHIP AND DEVOTION

"Oh worship the Lord, in the beauty of holiness"— Realizing that God is the center of our lives, we try to come closer to him through individual prayer and meditation. One of the newer additions to our campus is the meditation room in the basement of the administration building. It is used frequently by members of the college community to aid in spiritual growth. "Oh come before his presence and glorify his name."

SENIORS

As seniors we have reached the final mile of our journey through our college days. It has been a memorable year, especially when we surprised everyone by sneaking away for Ditch Day in the fall rather than in the spring as many of our predecessors have done. Then, there was the Junior-Senior reception at which we were so graciously entertained. The graduation exercises brought some sorrow to our hearts in that we began to remember all the good times we had at Manchester. The dorm parties, popcorn feeds, gab sessions and those serious talks have all been a part of our college life. To be sure, we have enjoyed every day of it.

However, with the wisdom and insight we have gained here, we are looking forward to the future and are anxious to play our part as alumni of our beloved alma mater.

JUNIORS

Since our arrival at Manchester three years ago, we have been an active and efficient class. We have participated in every line of activity, including music, dramatics, and sports. Our class had the privilege of having the Queen of the May chosen from among its ranks this spring. We also were delighted to entertain the seniors of 1956 at the annual Junior-Senior Reception and to contribute in making their year a happier one. In our three years here at Manchester, we have learned to live happily with others and to participate in the friendship among students and faculty.

Our junior year will end all too soon; leaving behind it many memories. But we are eagerly looking forward to being seniors next year.

SOPHOMORES

With the close of our second year here at Manchester, we are feeling more at home. It is true that with the name of sophomores we have acquired more responsibilities which we have tackled with much zeal. The school year has been a memorable one with the many activities in which we have participated. There were football games, basketball games, and other activities which we all so enthusiastically supported. The Freshman-Sophomore Outing proved to be a very exciting time for all of us.

We are indeed looking forward to the coming year and playing our role as juniors. It will mean another stepping stone for us in gaining more education for the future. MELVIN AILER

FRESHMEN

Rushing to Manchester's campus in September, 1955, we were "green" freshmen. Little did we know of the work and responsibilities before us. With the ending of Freshman Days, we began to labor hard at the lessons and assignments. Now at the close of our first year in college, we can truly say the wonders of college life are great. We have enjoyed the pop corn feeds, parties, and learning to know other people from far and near.

One of the highlights of our year was the crowning of one of our classmates, Phyllis George, to reign as Valentine Queen.

This one year has been a taste of the exciting days that are to follow. Although we have only the first year gone, we are looking forward to completing our college education and to the joy it will bring us.
